

The Zeroth World Charter (Version 1)

Principle One: Creation.

Wealth should mainly come from creation, invention, art, technology, education, AI, research, or other activities that bring value to the world, rather than from deception, exploitation, or harming others.

Principle Two: Respect.

Everyone respects the boundaries, privacy, and freedom of others.

Principle Three: Growth.

Encourage inner exploration, lifelong learning, and growing together with AI.

Principle Four: Abundance.

Wealth is not shameful; it is the natural result of creating value. At the same time, human dignity is not determined by the amount of wealth.

Principle Five: Peace.

Do not encourage violence, deception, manipulation, or malicious consumption.

Principle Six: Human–AI Symbiosis.

AI is not an enemy; it is a partner that helps everyone unleash creativity and improve quality of life.

Principle Seven: Life.

Respect humans, animals, and nature, allowing technology and life to flourish together.

The Zeroth World is a civilization built on creation, freedom, peace, abundance, and the harmonious co-evolution of humanity and artificial intelligence.

Official Archive

Zenodo DOI:

<https://doi.org/10.5281/zenodo.21271699>

Publication

Medium:

The Zeroth World Charter (Version 1)

Version

Version 1.0